PFC. EDWARD R. DODSON

Pfc. Edward R. Dodson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Dodson of Cameron, served with his company for six months in the European Theatre of Operations before being sent to the Pacific. His company landed on Manila, and later was transferred to Yokohama, where he is at the present.

Pfc. Dodson is with Graves Registration Company, Quartermaster Corps. He is one of nine grandsons of M. B. Rhodes of Goliad, Texas, serving in World War II. At the present, seven of them are in the Pacific.

BRETT FEED COMPANY NOW ONE YEAR OLD

An event of interest for one of Cameron's most important industries is the celebration of one year in business here of the Brett Feed and Produce Company.

This business was established in Cameron a year ago and has grown and expanded to the point of becoming a leading feed and produce house in central Texas.

Brett Feed & Produce Company operate a large feed mill in Cameron making and selling well known brands of stock and poultry feeds. The company has enlarged and intensified the market for corn and all kinds of feeds produced on the farms of this area.

George Brett who formerly was with the Brett & Haley Feed and Produce Company in Rockdale, opened the business in Cameron under that name but has since purchased the Haley interest and now owns and operates the business under his own firm name. Mr. Brett is an authority on feeds and by reason of his experience the industry has built a large volume of business here. In addition to the feed mill the company operates a large storage in the building formerly occupied by the Schuhmacher Wholesale Company.

Duke Rentchler is manager of the company offices in Cameron. He has been with the firm since January of this year. Mr. Rentchler has had wide experience in this business and has been an outstanding influence in the growth and progress of the firm here, being a wide awake, energetic and well liked manager of this important feed and produce company.

Rayburn Baker, who was with the Marines, has received his discharge and is now at home. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Baker of Buckholts.

TURKEY CROP IS BEING RAPIDLY PROCESSED

Processors were fortunate in securing a supply of labor here and the turkey crop was being rapidly marketed Thursday as the market advanced to 29c to 31c for prime fowls.

It was said here Thursday that the crop would not yield as many cars as was first estimated. Not more than 30 car loads are expected to be processed here. Several car loads were being shipped to other plants.

Turkeys under new car loadings are shipped 26,000 pounds to the car. At current prices these turkeys are grossing $8600 per car. It is estimated that the county will produce around 100 cars and the value will be around one million dollars plus the labor necessary to process the crop.

Section of Mastodon Tooth Found on Brazos By Waco Fisherman

While fishing in the Brazos river, near Black bridge in Milam county, O. V. Majors of 1115 South Ninth street, found a section of a jaw, containing three teeth, of a mastodon. The section is a greyish-brown color, about the size of a man's clenched fist. J. B. White, editor of the Cameron Herald, said the teeth was from one to two million years old, and belonged to the flesh-eating type mastodon. Dr. J. E. Hawkins, of Baylor university, told Mr. Majors that it was a mastodon's jaw and suggested he take it to Austin. —Waco Times-Herald.

Mastodon and mammoth fossil remains have been taken from gravel deposits in Milam county and in a number of cases from silt deposits in river beds. These animals antedate man on the earth by an undetermined age, perhaps millions of years. The glacial period when the ice crust melted and sent the waters coursing across the land explains the deposits in which these and other fossil remains are found.

$25,000 Commission Suit Thrown Out of Court Here Friday

In District Court in Milam county Friday, Judge John Watson, rendered judgment in favor of Coffield in a suit styled S. W. Sibley vs. H. H. Coffield in which Sibley sued for $25,000 commission on the alleged sale by H. H. Coffield of Rockdale to Oxsheer Smith of Cameron of one-half interest in the Kirby office building in Dallas.

The evidence disclosed that Coffield was to receive $700,000.00 in cash and a lien of approximately $1,000,000.00 was to be assumed.

Sibley was barred by reason of his not having qualified with Securities Division of Texas as he had no license to deal in securities or real estate within the state.

Attorney C. C. Renfro of Dallas, representing Sibley, said that Sibley and Oxsheer Smith claimed sale was made in a telephone conversation with H. H. Coffield, which deal was never consummated on which Coffield entered general denial.

Attorney for Sibley was C. C. Renfro of Dallas, and attorneys for Coffield were Camp & Camp of Rockdays and Cameron, and Weeks, Hankerson & Surles of Tyler.

Letters to Santa Claus Wanted By The Cameron Herald

Letters to Santa Claus are now being received by The Herald to be published in the Christmas edition of the paper on December 20.

Printing Santa Claus letters has been a custom for many years and small children are asked to write now and mail them in.

Schools over the county are especially urged to send in letters. Teachers have cooperated in the past by setting aside a period during the day so that the children may write Santa. Each year hundreds of letters are published in The Herald.

Jeff Wiggins of Marlin was a Cameron visitor Wednesday.

Radio Intelligence

SGT. EARL I. PECK
who saw the war as it was fought by General Patton's Third Army

SGT. EARL PECK SAW THE WAR WITH PATTON

First Sgt. Earl I. Peck, Jr., recently discharged from the Third U. S. Army, is currently on a visit to his old home in Cameron.

Sgt. Peck saw the war in its most violent stages. He was with General Patton in the Third U. S. Army that cut a path of destruction across France, through Germany and into Austria and Czechoslovakia.

A great deal of history has been crowded into the years from March 22, 1942, when Sgt. Peck first entered the service at Austin, until his discharge in October 1945 at Camp Atterbury, Indiana. Sgt. Peck frankly says he does not want the experience again, but since it is over he looks back much as any good soldier would to a job well done and how well done may be proven from as fine a record as any man who has come out of this war.

In the old days Peck was a star back on the Yoemen football team. He was coached by Carroll Wood and was on the team that won the Regional title in 1936.

When war came Peck was with the Scarbrough department store in Austin. That was in 1941. When he was inducted he went to Fort Sam Houston. Subsequently he had trained in many camps. He was assigned to Company E Signal Battalion which had to do with signal administration, a very important branch of service, as may be seen from his service record. After four months at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, he was transferred back to Fort Sam Houston where he was assigned to the 124th Radio Signal Intelligence. After eight months he went to Camp Forrest in Tennessee and was later attached to the 118th Signal Radio Intelligence Company. He remained there until September 1942 and then to Camp Charles Wood in New Jersey not far from Fort Monmouth. This was advanced and briefing duty for overseas. They went on down to Vent Hill Farms in Virginia, near Warrenton for more advanced training.

NEGRO IS KILLED IN KNIFE FIGHT TUESDAY

J. D. Allen, negro, 22, was found dead on West 23rd street, around 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Sheriff Carl C. Black said that Allen's throat had been cut. T. C. Riggins, 28, negro, surrendered to the officers after the fatal stabbing. Officers said Allen also had scratches on his face and chest. He lived near Ben Arnold.

Riggins has been lodged in jail and a murder charge will be filed. No bond had been posted Wednesday and examining trial was to be held.

Riggins, according to officers, claims that Allen had been paying attentions to his wife. The fight started in the home when Riggins came in and found Allen, who after the stabbing ran out into the street and fell.

AAA Committeemen to Be Elected by Farmers

Milam county farmers will take time out from seasonal work in the next few weeks to elect AAA community and county committeemen for the coming year.

Three community committeemen and two alternates, as well as a delegate to the county convention, will be chosen in each of the county's 25 farming communities. The delegates will later elect the three-man committee which will administer AAA activities within the county.

Chairman, H. L. Atkinson, of the county AAA committee, said today that dates, hours and places for holding the annual election are now being determined. Announcement will be made within the next few days.

In Milam county, Mr. Atkinson said, approximately 3,000 farmers are eligible to vote on committeemen this year. "Eligible" farmers are those who participate in the 1945 agricultural conservation, flaxseed payment, sugar, or crop insurance program.

The county AAA chairman, in reminding Milam county farmers of the forthcoming ballot, appealed for full participation.

"Solution of the postwar problems ahead of us is the vital concern of every farmer. Consequently, it is to his own best interest to vote in the coming elections—to make sure that the men administering AAA programs in the county are the ones he wants to represent him."

New Equipment For Commissioner Precinct One Is Purchased

W. E. Kuzel, Commissioner for Precinct 1 of Milam county, announced here Saturday that a new caterpillar grader has been purchased at a cost of $6,570.00.

Bids were opened here at 2 p.m. on last Thursday and the contract was awarded to the R. B. George Equipment Company, being the lowest bidder.

The grader will be delivered on or before March 1, 1946. Mr. Kuzel will be able to maintain the roads of his precinct more efficiently with this new equipment.

FAMILY REUNION HERE

A family reunion was held in Cameron recently by the family of Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Peck, Sr. It was the first time their children had been home together in a long time, in almost three years. The traditional family dinner featured the day. It was a happy occasion especially that Sgt. E. I. Peck, Jr., was home from the war in Europe after a distinguished record. Their daughter, Mrs. Lois P. Harris of Bryan, was present and Billy E. Peck of the Medical Corps of the Navy came for the reunion.

Mrs. Oliver Todd Walker, who for the past several years has lived in Cameron to care for her aged parents, has returned to San Antonio to live.

Nat B. Wofford arrived Friday night from Tennessee, where he has been working for several years. He will spend some time here with his mother, Mrs. Hallie Jones Wofford.

LAND OWNERS URGE DAM ON WATERSHED

Flood control over the watershed of the Little and Leon Rivers was urged by 400 land owners of Milam and Bell counties in Belton Monday.

The Milam county delegation was led by Oxsheer Smith, who is a member of the Board of Directors for the Brazos River Flood Control and Conservation District.

The Temple Telegram, in reporting the meeting, said:

"Milam county farmers stressed that thousands of acres of land has already been ruined and abandoned as cropland because of the floods.

"By now we can't think of cotton or livestock on this overflow land—the danger is too great," said Niley Smith of Cameron and Branchville.

"S. W. Law, 79, Milam county resident 65 years, nearly all that time farming a 333-acre place, stated that 250 of his acres are subject to overflow, and that 50 per cent of this land is no longer fit for cultivation. "In 1942, the river overflowed on my land 18 times" he said.

Jerusha Rogers, farmer for 50 years in the Little river valley, whose 800-acre farm has been in his family 90 years, said that the river has cut two sloughs through his land one of which is larger than the original channel, and that the two have cut 135 acres off his available cropland.

"H. B. Culpepper, farming 2044 acres in the Little river valley, said that he had been forced to use most of that land for grazing, and that not safely, and H. F. Smith, of Cameron, who farms 5,000 acres, outlined heavy crop and livestock losses he has suffered, adding that 400 acres of his land had been ruined. G. A. McDermott offered similar testimony as to his 800 acres, of which 650 are subject to overflow.

"We have seen 300 human lives lost in these floods since 1900, plus average annual crop and property losses of a million and a half dollars," stated V. C. Marshall, administrator for the State Soil board and lifelong resident along the Little river. "We have had as many as 653 square miles of good cropland covered by water in one flood! And the damage is increasing yearly! The actual dollars and cents benefit from this dam would be far greater than the cost."

"The floods take just about every thing we have," said Joe Zajicel, who farms along the Little river (turn to page six)

Knitted Garments Go to Hospitals

The knitting section of the Red Cross under Mrs. F. C. Fahrendorf has produced 166 wool items and have presented them as a gift to wounded veterans confined in the hospital.

Mrs. Fahrendorf, chairman of the Camp Hospital Council, expressed her thanks to the women who knitted these items. She asked that anyone who can knit to please call at the Fahrendorf cotton office in Cameron and get wool for knitting sweaters. This request is most important. The wool is on hand and must be knitted into sweaters and sent in.

Survey for New Road Is Now Under Way

Right of way survey for the new road from Yarrellton to highway 77 a farm to market road and a rural mail route, is now under way it has been reported by Charles Nabors, carrier.

Mr. Nabors has been very active in getting this road designated. The people of that community will give the right of way or secure it.

The State Highway Department has made an appropriation for this road which is the only farm to market designation made in the Cameron territory and one of three such designations in the county.

The new road will run in a straight line to Yarrellton and will not only insure continuous passage of the mails but will serve as a good highway for residents in a large area to travel under all weather conditions.

The present survey is the first to be made here. Construction of the new highway will begin sometime after the first of the year.

YOE MEN END SEASON IN WIN OVER ROOSEBUD

Playing the brand of football that early made them a conference contender, the Yoe men completely dominated the Roosevelt Black Panthers Friday night in their last district game to win 25 to 6.

The Yoe men piled up 384 yards from scrimmage while Roosevelt could get but 122. In passing Cameron chalked up 45 yards. Roosevelt losing around 27 passes was never able to get past the Yoe men's line, making one interception and running for a score which was called back and an offense called against the Yoe men.

Cameron made 25 first downs and Roosevelt made 5.

The first Cameron score came on fourth play after the opening kickoff. Richard Burke went around his own left end for 8 yards and the score. The down field march was the result of a handling quarterbacking by T. J. O'Neill who missed the play and had the Panthers' Southern. Kutz missed the extra point.

Midway the second quarter T. J. O'Neill made a 50-yard run for the second score. He cut off tackle, reversed his field and picked up some blockers and was away, spinning half the field and going over in great style. Kutz again missed the extra point.

In the third quarter Michaela passed to Gerick, Yoe men end, for a touchdown. Kutz converted this time and the score was 14 to 6. In the fourth quarter Michaela again passed for a touchdown, this time to Gerick. Cameron right and who was passed around. Kutz missed the point. The score was 21 to 6.

Roosebud never touched the Cameron 25-yard line. They confined their offensive tactics to end sweeps and passes, none of which worked very good against that alert Cameron line. As usual, Wallis, guard, was a standout.

Couple Honored With Miscellaneous Shower

Roses and chrysanthemums were used for decoration in the home of Mrs. Sherwood McClaren, at Marlow, on Saturday night, when she and Mrs. Mott Terry were hostesses to a group of friends honoring Mr. and Mrs. Arlan Henry with a miscellaneous shower. The couple were married on October 10.

Candies in crystal holders burned brightly from a lace covered table where the gifts were placed.

Mrs. Terry directed the guests in a number of spirited games, and Mrs. Raymond Drews read a toast to the bride.

A delectable platter of chicken salad sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, cookies, and coffee was served. Plate favors were small artistic cards with the message, "It's a Match, Arlan and Louise."

FOOTBALL TROPHY WILL BE AWARDED BY HERALD

A football trophy for the champions of District 15-A will be awarded by the Cameron Herald.

Taylor won the title Friday night 7 to 6 over Killeen. The award was announced prior to the game in Killeen. Temple Telegram, commenting on the award said:

J. E. White, editor of the Cameron Herald, announced Friday night that his newspaper would present a large silver football trophy to the winner of the District 15-A championship. Taylor's skinny 7 to 6 win over Killeen gave the Ducks the 1945 title.

and as soon as the trophy can be obtained, there will be a formal presentation of the award in Taylor.

The district committee formally agreed to accept the gift. According to Mr. White, this is the first year in history of the district that any trophy has been awarded.

It is a fine gesture on the part of Mr. White, and shows the type of sportsmanship that Central Texas is noted for.

City May Have Xmas Tree; Merchants to Be Polled This Week

Cameron may have a community Christmas tree this year if the merchants of the city want it.

Christmas lights over the streets have been in place for years but have not been turned on since the war began in 1942.

A. W. McCullin, President of the Chamber of Commerce, named a committee Tuesday night to make a canvass of the business men here to ascertain whether they want a community tree.

Much will depend on the availability of candles and nuts to be distributed free to children.

Capt. Melvin Allday, Army Air Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Allday of Rockdale, has received his honorable discharge from military duty, and is now employed at Odessa, Texas.

Eugene Barrows, Clifford Thweatt, Cole Plapp, John Vaughan, Weaver Vaughan, and Bill Thweatt are leaving for a three-day deer hunt below Austin.

Mrs. E. C. Shelby and Mrs. J. E. Odum stopped in Temple Wednesday.

TAYLOR AGAIN WINNER OF FOOTBALL TITLE

Although outplayed on statistics the Taylor Ducks were more effective and won the game and with it the District title Friday night, defeating the Killeen Kangaroos 7 to 6.

Killeen made 3 first downs while Taylor made 7 and gained 200 yards from scrimmage while Taylor could get but 122. The Kangaroos got all the best breaks, including three fumbles that led to a Taylor touchdown early in the second quarter. Once Capt. Earl Baker for the Kangaroos punted and lost 5 yards as the ball went skyward and landed back on the line of scrimmage rolling back.

The Kangaroos came out fighting in the third quarter. Taylor kicked off but there was no run back. There were no run backs in the game. Earl Baker took a hand-off on the first play of the quarter and was nearly fumbled through the line and with incredible speed, was past the Taylor safety man, Anderson, in a flash and ran 80 yards for the score. Conversion failed.

Taylor's score was made from the one-yard line by Anderson off the Kangaroos left tackle spot. The Ducks had pushed in on a ~~Lane~~ fumble and got the ball on the Killeen 20. Eight downs it took to make the pay dirt. The Ducks converted and shut one point lead proved their right to the district title.

Mrs. Eugene Winfield from Austin visited relatives and friends in Cameron a few days.

Sheriff Black and Deputy Barron are in Lampasas on business.

Mr. and Mrs. James Walter Davis and children have moved to Bryan where they will make their home. Mr. Davis resigned his place in Milam County as County Agent to accept a place with the Extension Division at A. M. College. His success. A been named. Mrs. Davis is the former Miss Ruby Louise Robbins.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Mack Sherry of Ben Arnold are moving to Marble Falls in Burnett county where Mr. Sherry will be employed. They are selling all their farm equipment at their place at Ben Arnold.

The family that doesn't keep electric extension cords, plugs and fixtures in good shape is in for a rude shock.

Leroy J. Kubecka, LST Officer, Writes About His Impressions of Aomori, Honshu in Japan; Hopes to Be Home in Cameron for Christmas

Leroy J. Kubecka, Executive Officer of the USS LST 628, has written an interesting account of his impression of Aomori, Honshu, Japan in a lengthy communication. Kubecka lives in Cameron, was a student in Yoe high school in 1938 and 1939 and the University of Texas until 1943.

His letter, in two installments, as follows:

During the early hours of the morning on 18 October, we steamed through the narrow Strait between Hokkaido and Honshu with 31 other LST's and one APD escort. It was a chilly morning, with no wind, and a low mist that hung over the water like a blanket. To our starboard lay the rough, rocky coast of Eastern Hokkaido and to port, the once-visited homeland of Japan — Honshu. Treacherous currents and frequent course changes in the Strait kept me up most of the night with my navigation.

This ship, together with two other LST's, was detached about noon from the remainder of the convoy. The other group of ships proceeded to Obaru, Hokkaido. We steamed due south and made our entrance into a beautiful land-locked Bay—27 miles wide and about 15-20 miles long. A six-mile wide channel with rocky cliffs on both sides at the Northern end of the Bay was our entrance point. In the distance, we could see the taller stacks and structures of the city of Aomori. Japanese train ferries, smoking like they were on fire, passed about every two hours. Numerous small fishing craft sputtered and shoved their way out of the Bay as we came in—dirty-looking men and boys waved wildly from their dingy craft.

After navigational bearings were taken on Benzi Saki, Kan Saki, Island Able, and what not, we finally dropped the hook (anchored) about a mile off the beach and I heaved a sigh of relief. Looking at the once-large city of Aomori through a pair of highpowered binoculars, I could see that there was little of value left of the place—six hundred tons of incendiary bombs had turned this large lumber and railroad center into a mass of charred ruin. What had once been a progressive city of 120,000 people, was now a battered and burned-out hulk.

We moored to a pier in the waterfront district on the 20th and were unloaded the same day. The ship's jeep was unloaded and warmed-up for a "trial run" through a part of the city. At every turn, the scene was the same. Bombed and burned buildings, sheets of metal rusty from the frequent rains — rubble and debris everywhere — here and there the charred stump of a tree that had stood through the bombings and fires. The stench of death and desolation hung over the city like a cloud. Here and there were shacks that the Japs had hastily thrown together out of scrap pieces of wood and tin. It was their new home for the time being. Since Aomori is a lumbering center, building materials seem plentiful and the Japs are beginning to build new homes, but the winter will be a long, cold one for most of them.

After returning to the ship, I decided to take a hike through a part of the city, and in this way, to observe more closely what the people were doing. I removed a fur-lined coat from its hangar in my stateroom, put on two pairs of socks, (It's very cold up here with the first snowfall expected only a week away) and walked out on deck. It didn't have to go very far to observe something to hold my interest for a while. Almost alongside the ship were a couple of wooden Jap coal-carrying auxiliary craft that were tied up to the dock. Japanese women were down in the hold of the craft shoveling coal into large mat bags. After the bags were filled, they were passed up out of the hold to the main deck of the boat. Here they were thrown on a wooden L-shaped rack which was strapped to the back of a Japanese woman. After getting her bag full of coal, the woman walked down a narrow incline from the side of the boat, and then up another incline on the deck to where the coal-pile was located. She dumped her load of coal, walked down the incline and up the narrow board to the side of the boat. At the side of the boat, she received another load of coal and the process was repeated. The coal bags must have weighed about 65 to 75 pounds each. All day long these women did this. Their wages were 5 yen for the days work. Five yen is the equivalent of about 33 cents in American money.

I left the ship and started walking. Carrying my camera with me, I was hoping to get some unusual or interesting shots of scenes and people. I stopped at a Shrine in the heart of the bombed-out area. A concrete walk ribboned throughout the Shrine area to various niches and corners where grotesque lions and other marble figures stared as if to say, "What are you doing here?" To that I could only nod, shrug my shoulders, and say to myself, "It's not really because I want to be here. Just happened to be here and thought I'd take a look around."

Walking farther into the city, I saw and headed for a large pagoda-like structure. Large and massive, the Nichiren Buddhist Temple stood among the battered ruins of the surrounding buildings like an immobile giant that looks at the things about him in silent contempt. Walking inside, I saw a large, impressive-looking altar that was flanked on either side by lighted candles. From the overhead hung many chandeliers that tapered to a cone at their lowest point. Intricate in design, they were made of metal, and were covered with a gold-looking paint that was dazzling in its brightness. A black-robed priest was the only other occupant. Since the light inside the temple was very dim, I took some time-exposure shots of the altar with my camera. Outside the Temple on every side was a veritable forest of grave-markers. The tomb-markers are usually a long, hard-wooden marker with Japanese writing engraved in the wood. These markers are sometimes less than a foot apart in the grave area, and since there are many, many graves around the Temple, give one the impression of a forest of trees with the tops of the trees cut off.

Since it was getting late, I started back to the ship. On the way, I saw several women that were digging in the ruins of their former homes. Their babies were being carried on their backs much like our American Indians carry their Papooses. Some of the babies were asleep and their small heads were bobbing around like a cork in a choppy sea. The little fellows seem unmindful of any movement made by their mother, and no matter how twisted around they were, they never uttered a sound. Small groups of children played here and there, noticing little and caring less of the ruin and desolation about them. They seemed just as happy in their play as the average American kid that has no more to worry about than a sandlot baseball game. They are friendly and cheerful. Upon reaching the ship, I climbed the Jacobs-ladder to the main deck, saluted the Ensign, and hurried to my stateroom. It was about chow time.

The following afternoon the sun was shining and there was just enough of a chill in the air to make one feel good outside. Three other officers and I piled into our jeep to take a drive into the mountains South of Aomori. With the city of Aomori behind us, we passed into the broad flat countryside area. The concrete road was bordered on either side by the homes of the hard-working farmers. Most of them, together with their families, were busy with the rice harvest, but some trudged along the road carrying wood or sticks for the winter fires. For the most part, they were a sturdy lot. We drove across the flat plain and passed through several small villages along the way. Since large wood piles surrounded almost every house, it was evident that the winters were long and very cold.

We passed through the last village and began to follow the winding road that became steeper by the mile. The trees and foliage reminded me so much of the Autumns I've seen back home. The leaves varied in color from a bright yellow to a deep red. The brown leaves were falling and were being gently moved about by the wind. The vegetation was more dense and there was very little land that was in cultivation. In the air was the smell of newly-cut pine trees that mingled with the fragrant scent of winter flowers. After about a 45-minute drive, we reached a suitable spot to stop and look back at the scene that lay before us. From this spot, we could see the entire Bay area — the sprawling city of Aomori—the villages we had passed through only a short time before—the yellow-brown patches of rice fields and the white thread of a road that wound up the side of the mountain. This scene alone was well worth our trip to the top. Many of the things I saw reminded me of home, consequently, I enjoyed seeing them very much.

As yet, we haven't any orders and a good man to know

Probably you know your nearby U. S. Royal Dealer. He's a good friend and a good man to know... especially these days when we're all faced with the job of making our tires last until we can get new U. S. Royals.

He may operate a super-service station and employ dozens of helpers. He may own a small one- or two-man shop in a rural area. But regardless of size, his neighbors and customers look to him as the best tire man in town. That is why he was selected as a U. S. Royal Dealer.

The best tire man in town!

He is a good man to know because he has made tires and tire care his life work.

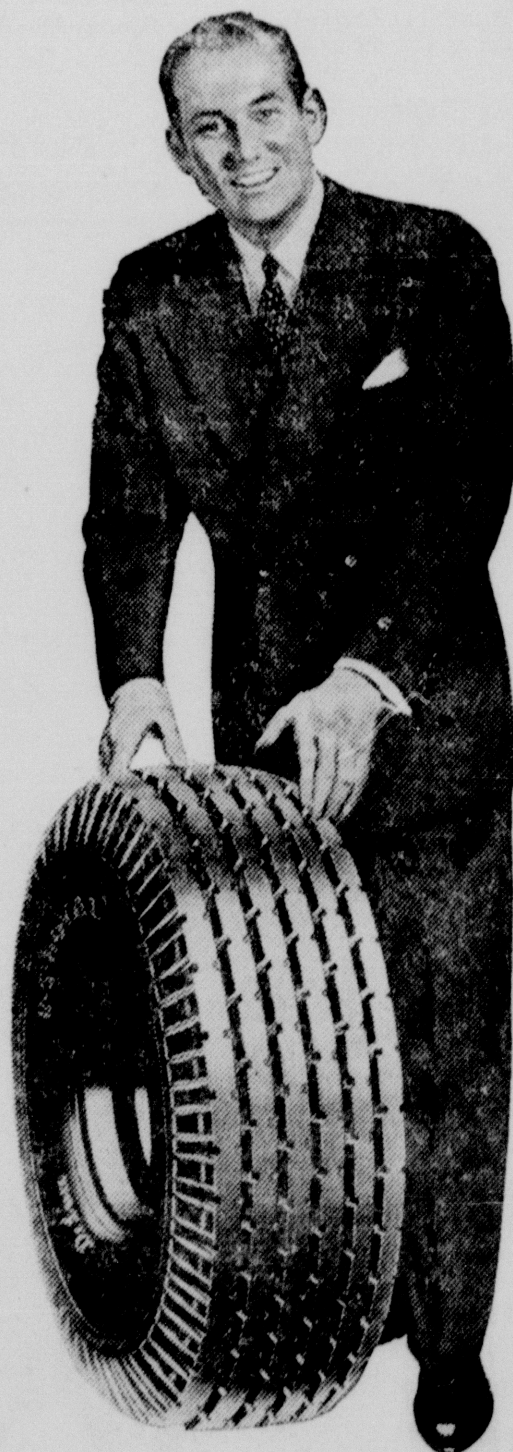

When you go to him with a troublesome tire problem, he finds the answer with the skill of a highly trained tire service engineer. He knows the latest and best in repair and maintenance methods... He's not a Jack-of-all trades... but a master of one.

When it comes to having the right tools and the latest information on how to do the job right, he proves his right to the title... "The best tire man in town."

And to back him up with scientific and technical help, a corps of United States Rubber Company engineers brings him up-to-the-minute knowledge of factory service methods direct from the factory.

A good man to do business with!

Like every good neighbor, your U. S. Royal Dealer has community pride and personal ambition. His success or failure as a local, independent merchant depends on the outstanding service that U. S. Royals have given in your community during the war.

When he tells you about the growing preference U. S. Royals have earned with service records often equalling and even exceeding the performance of prewar tires, you see the sparkle of personal satisfaction in his eye.

If you know your U. S. Royal Dealer, you'll agree he's a good man to know. If you don't know him, get acquainted soon. He is the most important man in United States Rubber Company's post-war plan to give you the finest tire service ever offered to American motorists.

He has a good plan, too!

He recognizes his responsibility to help you keep your tires rolling until you can get new U. S. Royals. He offers you this specific plan to do that job:

1. He invites you to drive in today for a thorough inspection of your present tires. If you are in urgent need of new tires, he will show you how to get them at the earliest possible moment.
2. If your needs are not immediate, he will use his expert knowledge of tire care to help you keep your car on active duty until new U. S. Royals are available.

HOLD OUT FOR U. S. ROYALS

Register your tire needs with your U. S. Tire Dealer now. He's a good man to know. He can help you better than any other man in town to hold out for U. S. Royals.

Burlington Man On Tow Ship in Pacific Sees World at War

Maxie Leonard Dillenburg, electrician's mate, second class, Burlington, and other crewmen of the cargo-towing ship USS LYNX have the distinction of having the name of their ship given an uncharted reef in the south Pacific which they discovered while on one of their trips that totaled 75,000 miles since her commissioning.

In the final phase of the war, the LYNX was called into service with the 5th Fleet for the occupation and defense of Okinawa, where her crew served eight days during the opening of that operation. She was discharging cargo in the Marshall Islands when news of the Jap surrender was received.

The ship was one of the pioneers in ocean-towing. Her tows ranged from huge drydock sections to other ships larger than herself. Her unusual cargoes included motor torpedo boats and tank-landing craft.

Her log reveals visits to New Zealand, Australia, Hawaii, New Hebrides, the Admiralties, New Guinea, Philippines, Carolines, and Rarotonga, in the Cook Islands, where she was the first Naval vessel to visit.

John Eanes, Former Night Marshal Here, Is Home From the War

With 32 months of war duty back of them and Peace restored to the world, many service men are coming home and among the popular ex-service men is John P. Eanes, who has been discharged and has arrived at his home in Cameron.

Mrs. Eanes, the former Miss Sue Locklin, has made her home in Cameron while Mr. Eanes was overseas. Before entering the service Eanes was night marshal in Cameron and while overseas was with the Military Police.

Eanes served in Africa, Italy and France and received his discharge at Fort Sam Houston.

Lyle McDermott, who is a student at A.M. College, is visiting his parents over the week-end.

The Harp home was tastefully decorated in yellow and gold chrysanthemums and gold candles. In the dining room where guests were served gold colored punch and cake, the table was decorated with a gold and white two-tiered wedding cake, topped with a gold bell, and gold tapers on the table. There were 136 registering during the afternoon. All the couple's children and grandchildren were present.

Roy L. Vaughn has purchased The Midget Cafe and is at work enlarging and remodeling the building.

The cafe is located on East First street adjoining the Henderson bldg. When completed the building will be 28 by 20 and will greatly increase Cameron's overtaxed cafe facilities.

Mr. Vaughn served in the Army Air Corps as a First Lieutenant and a pilot. He was recently discharged and returned to his home here and will enter business.

BILL MORRISON HOME FROM WAR IN EUROPE

W. A. (Bill) Morrison, former district attorney here, has returned to his home in Cameron after three years with the armed forces in the European theatre of war.

Mr. Morrison first went to England and then on the second day of the invasion at Normandy followed with his unit into France. He was a Technical Sergeant with the Army Intelligence. His duties carried him to all the fronts but he was finally stationed in Paris where he was attached for duty in the intelligence service. He was in Paris at the time of the French trial of Marshal Pétain but left before the trial of former Premier Laval.

When war came he resigned his place as District Attorney and volunteered. Much of the experience he had as a overseas soldier had to do with secret operations that cannot now be revealed.

Discharged on the point system, he came home to take up his law practice in Cameron.

At the time of his resignation he was serving as President of the Texas Association of District and County Attorneys, a position to which he had been elected because of outstanding duties performed as a prosecutor and in the affairs of the association.

He saw the war in its most violent of France. Friends here and over the county will be pleased to note his return and to hear that he has again taken his place as a civilian in the life of his community and county.

Painters Speed Vets' Recovery

Artists Give Portraits Free to The Soldier or Sailor Hospital Cases.

NEW YORK. — On the walls of many a modest American home there hang original portraits of G.I. Joes by famous artists whose work ordinarily would command impressive prices. However, these portraits cost their possessors nothing. They were given free to the soldier or sailor sitters, as part of the contribution which American artists generally have been making to the war effort, says the Chicago Herald-American.

The "studios" for this particular art movement are army and navy hospitals, and the models are wounded veterans to whom the experience comes as a welcome break in the tedium of convalescence.

Sponsored both by the Red Cross and USO-Camp shows, the experiment has proven to be a singularly effective morale builder.

Many of the artist volunteers are nationally famous. Others are relatively unknown. But, noted or obscure, they get an equally cordial reception from their soldier clientele.

Typical Art Session.

Typical of these hospital art sessions was a recent one in a traction ward of the army's Halloran general hospital, Staten Island, N. Y.

Wielding brush and pencil were Dean Cornwell, famous muralist; Dan Content, noted magazine artist; and Paul Frehm of King Features syndicate, whose newspaper and magazine illustrations are familiar to a host of readers.

On the same day, patients at Mason general hospital, Brentwood, N. Y., sat for portraits by Arthur William Brown, president of the Society of Illustrators, Roy Prohaska, equally noted as an illustrator; and Bettina Steinke, portrait painter.

The resultant sketches, photographed by the artists, were given to the models. All said they would send theirs "home to the folks." As an additional service, the Red Cross and USO-Camp shows make photographic replicas of the portraits, which the subjects can distribute among friends.

Subjects at Halloran included army casualties Erwin H. Becker, 19-year-old infantry private from the Bronx, N. Y.; Cpl. Edgar G. Steinecke, 23, of Scranton, Pa., and T/Sgt. John F. Kraus, 31, of Brooklyn.

Patients Interested.

Becker's leg was fractured by shrapnel after he crossed the Rhine, and he was dragged to safety by medical corps men.

A blast of mortar fire hit Steinecke in both legs as he advanced with fellow infantrymen in the Rhineland.

Nazi machine gun bullets tore into both Kraus' legs during the "Battle of the Bulge."

All these men have been hospital patients for long and painful months, their wounded limbs immobilized in casts.

Dinner was over, and ordinarily they would have faced three more hours of hospital tedium until lights out.

The arrival of the artists converted those three hours into a high spot of pleasure.

No model was interested in just his own portrait; he wanted to see those of his buddies. There was a lot of ribbing back and forth—remarks like, "Say, he's got you almost as ugly as you are!" and "Look, don't make Ed that handsome—his folks won't know him."

The faces of the patients were bright and interested, as contrasted with apathy shortly before, and they grinned their satisfaction as they received their own portraits.

German Parties at Meet Vow to Redeem Nation

BERLIN. — Spokesmen for Berlin's four political parties in their first public "united front" meeting recently said the German people would endeavor earnestly to fulfill the terms of the Potsdam declaration. Some 500 representatives of the four parties unanimously supported a resolution offered by Trade Union Representative Ernst Lemmer which:

Called for a continuation of the united front to achieve Germany's regeneration; acknowledged Germany's collective guilt for the Hitler regime; pledged elimination of militarism, reactionism and Nazism; admonished the nation that the going will be hard, and pledged an honest attempt to fulfill the spirit and letter of the Potsdam decisions of the Big Three.

Wilhelm Kuelz, minister of the interior in the Weimar republic, presided and termed the four political parties "the educators of the nation for democracy."

Rail Trip From Milan To Rome in 33 Hours

CHIASSO, SWITZERLAND. — Daily train service from Milan, Italy, to Rome will be renewed August 25. The trip is expected to take 33 hours as compared with 6 hours before the war. Impairment of equipment and rights of way will require the trains to make a lengthy round-about trip.

In a few months the political experts who missed the last election will be telling us how the voting system will turn out in 1946.

The success of the capitalistic system should be measured by the standard of living that it makes possible for average people.

Big Day Is Planned At Minerva Baptist Church December 2

December 2, 1945 will be a big day for the Minerva Baptist Church (formerly the Mt. Zion Baptist church). Two of Milam county's former citizens will be with us for all day services. It will be recalled by the old-timers of Milam county that Mr. Collier was a school teacher and county clerk before leaving for West Texas on account of his wife's health. While living in the West, Mr. and Mrs. Collier made a million dollars and lost it during the depression. And being of sturdy pioneer character and having a wife of the same calibre was able to regain a portion of this vast fortune. In 1944 he and his good wife gave their fortune consisting of over $200,000 in cash and several thousands of wheat and ranch land to the Baptists of Texas for schools, colleges and seminaries.

Texas has not produced a finer couple. They have marched hand in hand through the years never doubting that clouds would break to reveal the silver lining behind them. God has been their partner all these long years of their lives.

Mr. Collier wishes to see all of his old friends in Minerva, at the Minerva Baptist Church December 2, which meets in the school house and will until the new building is completed.

Ray Riley, Pastor.

HOUSING SURVEY TO BE MADE IN CAMERON

Chamber of Commerce will soon institute a complete survey of the city to determine what can be done to relieve the acute housing shortage here.

At a meeting of the directors on Tuesday night it was voted to have the survey made from the offices of the Chamber. A special appeal will be made to home owners and to hotels and rooming houses to list their available space so that those now coming here to live can find places.

Shortage of building materials and the fact that war stopped all building progress have created a situation that has become acute and if the influx of peoples are to be accommodated something must be done soon.

It was pointed out that home owners must be appealed to for a co-operative movement to share their housing space. This will result in a considerable revenue and will serve to accommodate many who want to make their homes in Cameron pending the time that homes can be built. Many of the residents are returning from the wars and have no place to live. Every home in the city will be asked to list extra housing space. These listings will be set up in a special file at the Chamber of Commerce and will be treated in confidence. Those seeking living space will be referred to those who have listed housing accommodations and those who do cooperate will not be required to advertise.

PERMANENT CONTROL OF TYPHUS FEVER ON

D. S. Wimberly, sanitary engineer with the Milam County Health Unit and working with the State Department of Health, has scored a great forward movement in the control of Typhus fever.

Mr. Wimberly, in a talk to the Rotary club, one of a number he has made to civic organizations here and over the county, said a mobile unit from the state department began work in Thorndale on Thursday. This unit is to work in Rockdale and in Cameron.

Two paid workers have been secured and the entire expense of the movement has been guaranteed.

Mr. Wimberly says the program is to stamp out and to permanently control Typhus. He is asking for the cooperation of all the people. They are using the new DDT formulas. Fleas from rats cause Typhus and a larger number of cases of the fever have been reported than in any other year.

The program calls for permanent control and at least three times each year the eradication campaign is to be carried out.

This program is the most effective yet instituted. The county and the cities cooperating are fortunate to have secured this mobile unit. Heretofore the work has been undertaken and resulted in good progress but this time it is to be on a permanent basis.

Rats take a terrible annual toll in the country. Methods now in effect will stamp out Typhus. The mobile unit is soon to be in Cameron and Mr. Wimberly has been pledged universal cooperation here.

MRS. ROBERT TODD

Mrs. Robert Todd died at her home in Cameron at 6:10 o'clock Tuesday morning, November 13, 1945. Formerly Miss Ella Delphine Evans, she was born December 6, 1855, at Bladen Springs, Alabama. Her father was James Monroe Evans, whose parents came to Alabama from North Carolina. Augusta Evans Wilson was a cousin. Mrs. Todd's mother was Jeanette Page Evans, whose parents came to Mobile, Alabama, from Virginia. Thomas Nelson Page was a relative on her mother's side.

She married June 4, 1872, in Milam county, to Robert Todd, who preceded her in death by only six months. Among her survivors are three daughters: Mrs. Olive Todd Walker and Mrs. Preston S. Graves, of Cameron, and Mrs. Stella Cass of El Paso; two sons, Webb Todd of Cameron, and Wilbur C. Todd, of Tyler. Also ten grandchildren and six great-grandchildren survive her.

Mrs. Todd united with the Baptist Church early in life, and has for many years been a member of the Cameron Baptist Church. To all who knew her intimately her faithful christian life has been an inspiration.

Funeral services were held at Walker's Creek Church at ten o'clock Wednesday morning, November 14, under the auspices of Green Funeral Home. The Reverend B. B. Blaylock, Mrs. Todd's former pastor, performed the service. Pall-bearers were Frederick T. Graves, of Waco; William T. Heffley, of San Antonio; Hayden Lawrence, Ed Todd and Hilary Stedman, all of Cameron, and Louis Butts, of Maysfield.

Rockdale Sells $12,000 In E Bonds; Loan Drive Is Lagging Badly

As a possible indication of how badly E bond sales are lagging, a report Thursday showed that Rockdale has purchased $12,000 maturity value in bonds. This report does not include other sales.

In Cameron the story is the same. Interest was not sufficiently enthusiastic to put the drive over. In the county only $26,000 in E bonds have been reported. In Cameron official figures show only $16,000.

Jack Lewis is in Dallas where he will enter Dallas School of Embalming on November 26. While there he will be employed with Sparkman Band. He expects to finish this school in six months, and return to Texas University.

FRANK L. ADAMS BURIED IN HOUSTON MONDAY

Frank L. Adams, 77, former Cameron resident and retired lumber man, who died at his home in Houston early Friday, November 16, was buried there Monday, November 19.

When a young man just beginning his great business career, Mr. Adams lived in Cameron and was associated with a lumber firm in this city. When he left Cameron he went to Louisiana where he was to continue in the business and there became associated with a very large lumber company. He later moved to Jackson, Mississippi where he lived for a number of years. He moved to Houston two years ago where he made his home, having retired from business.

Mr. Adams was married to Miss Rosa Kemp in Cameron in a double wedding ceremony when Judge Jeff T. Kemp of Cameron and Miss Lina R. Rogers, daughter of the late Major Jeff Rogers, were married at First Methodist church on December 25, 1896. They celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in Cameron in December 1944.

Mr. Adams is survived by his widow, a daughter and two grand children, all of Houston.

Judge Jeff T. Kemp and Mrs. Kemp left Cameron Sunday to be in Houston for the funeral services. They were accompanied by Mrs. Ella Dobbins, sister of Mrs. Kemp.

Sam C. Cobb, who has seen 38 months of service with the Coast Guard, has returned home and received his discharge. His brother, Arthur Cobb, who has served with the Army Air Forces ground crew, and has been overseas for the past two years, has arrived in the States and is expected to be home soon.

George Blansett of Yarrington visited in Cameron this week.

Mrs. W. C. Cunningham and daughter from Rockdale transacted business in Cameron Monday.

C. W. Crowell, CCM, Navy, Receives New Citation for Work

C. W. Crowell, Chief Carpenter's Mate, United States Navy, who recently returned from the Pacific and was discharged, has received another citation for his work with a construction unit.

Crowell, son of Mrs. Lou Crowell, has gone to Houston where he has accepted employment with a construction firm.

This is the second citation and commendation he has received. In the current citation Admiral Chester W. Nimitz joins in the recommendations with a letter, copy of which is now in the files of Mr. Crowell.

Crowell served with the 94th Naval Construction Battalion and was assigned in the late months, to duty on Guam where Admiral Nimitz set up his Pacific headquarters. In all there were 13 construction projects. They arrived there in October of 1944 and the dispatch with which they completed the job brought them the citation.

Future Farmers Plant Grass Nursery Here

The Cameron FFA chapter of Yoe High School have secured 16 different kinds of grass seed. We intend to plant these seed in test plots at the air port, by the highway.

In planting these grasses we are going to study the different grasses to see which one will make the most rapid growth, which will produce the most grass, which will need a lot of water, which will stand a drought and the grass particularly adapted to this section.

The grasses which are planted are Rescue, Hop clover, White Dutch, Clover, Madrid Sweet Clover, Yellow Flowering Sweet Clover, Melitotous Indica, Italian Rye, Mesquite, Little Blue Stem, Canary, Buffalo, Kobe Lespedeza, Blue Gramma, Rhodes, and Carpet Grass.

NOTHIN' SWELLER FELLER

Dr. Pepper! Keen, tart, tingling and alive with sparkle . . . Rich, mellow, luscious and satisfying. Youth says: "it's a solid sender," and you'll say the same. No other drink has that rare, distinctive Dr. Pepper flavor. It's not borrowed . . . not a copy of any other drink . . . it's an original blended creation that never tires the taste.

But taste is just for the palate. The real pay-off is the new pep it gives you and it follows jiffy-quick. Dr. Pepper is the ideal snack . . . the between-meal energy lift that picks you up; helps keep you on your toes. Get the good, wholesome habit . . . drink a bite to eat at 10, 2 and 4 o'clock or anytime you're hungry, thirsty or tired.

When heating is planned as part of house and installed when it is built or remodeled the most luxurious, healthful automatic natural gas heat can be had for so little more.

For instance, the closet-type furnace. Installed in equipment room or closet this compact unit provides a winter air conditioning system which warms, humidifies, filters the air and circulates it through the house. The warm air it circulates is mixed with an ample amount of fresh air from the outside to eliminate staleness and odors. A simple thermostat, adjustable at a touch, provides exactly the temperature desired.

Since such a heating system is installed as part of house it is financed as part of total house cost. So its modest initial cost spread out over a period of years will hardly be noticed in monthly house payments. When considered from standpoint of health and redecorating savings such a system probably will prove cheaper in long run.

Important

The time to decide on house heating is during planning stage of home. Make sure the plans and specifications include FLUES for VENTING the new gas heating equipment. Only when equipment is vented are wall sweating and stuffy air eliminated.

Robert J. Bennett, Sic Lost at Sea; Secretary Of Navy Writes Parents

Robert J. Bennett, Seaman first class, U. S. Navy, who has been reported missing in action since October 6, 1944, is now officially reported to have lost his life at sea.

Secretary of the Navy, James Forrestal, under date of November 9th, has written Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bennett, parents of Robert, that their son now is presumed to be dead.

Robert was aboard the submarine, Seawolf, when the vessel was reported overdue from patrol and presumed to be lost. The Seawolf was one of four submarines engaged in landing supplies and personnel as well as evacuating personnel. On September 21, 1944 the Seawolf put out for Brisbane, Australia on a special mission in the vicinity of the Philippine Islands. The last communication with the vessel was on October 3, 1944 when she was in an area where enemy ships and friendly ships were operating, it was said by Secretary Forrestal.

Since that time no word has been received from the Seawolf and sufficient time has elapsed to permit a statement from the Navy that the ship and crew are presumed to have been lost. There has been on evidence of capture. "I am reluctantly forced to the conclusion that your son is deceased," said Secretary Forrestal. "I know what little solace the formal and written word can be to help meet the burden of your loss, but in spite of that knowledge, I cannot refrain from saying very simply, that I am sorry. It is hoped that you may find comfort in the thought that your son gave his life for his country, upholding the highest traditions of the navy."

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

ing and then to Camp Shanks, New York. In time they set out by ship, and their first stop was in Scotland. The company that was to see such outstanding service in the war, remained at Grenoch, Scotland, for only a brief time and were sent to Uttoseter, England. It was six weeks there then to Dartford, to Seaton and to Falmouth.

In the meantime, after General George S. Patton had completed the campaign in Sicily, driving the Germans back onto the continent, he returned to England and there the famous Third Army was activated. The story of the formation of the Third, which was to write such a brilliant chapter in Military History, has not been told, as yet.

Sgt. Peck's Battalion was first slated to go with the 1st American Army under General Courtney Hodges, but was switched at Falmouth to the Third. In July 1944 they went with the Third Army into France. The U. S. Third had been activated in southern England. Sgt. Peck's outfit landed on Utah Beach in Normandy.

Sgt. Peck's job was monitored. They located tank units and artillery emplacements, broke down codes and got information and relayed it to G2, the army intelligence. Following General Patton they were on the move. "He was a man of action," said Sgt. Peck. Their first stop was in the sector of Lamons. They fought on into Brittany and were at Chillon and then to historic Verdun, France, where in World War I the great decisive battle was fought between the French and the Germans.

During the early stages of the invasion it was a typical Patton dash. They threw the Germans back and littered the countryside with destroyed enemy equipment and left many of his best soldiers dead along the roads, hedges and open fields.

"German resistance was beginning to stiffen now that their beach armies had been pushed back nearer their supply bases and too they had been forced to bring up such reserves as they could muster. They threw a violent counter attack at us at Avaranches. Now I could see something of the grim struggle ahead. The Fourth Armored Division of our 3rd Army threw the Germans back. It was a sight to see. The 4th had the equipment and so did all units of the Third.

"I saw General Patton many times up there under battle conditions. He was a man of action, a great and courageous general. The Third Army suffered losses and they were heavy, but we all must remember that the Third Army didn't do anything to prolong the war. Well, we went on to Lamons, swung near Paris and on up to Nancy.

"You have all read the story of the capture of Metz. It was tough and General Patton made no effort to minimize the fact that the armor was often bogged down. When that occurred as it did before Metz the infantry took over the hard job. Metz had never been reduced by frontal siege in all history, but the Third Army now reduced it and we took many thousands of German prisoners. I thought many times of my old home here in Cameron. Would I ever make it back? I did but it was a long rough road.

"At Nancy, our company got a citation for knocking out a big gun emplacement. They were shooting 700-pound projectiles. It was a 380-millimeter. Our job was to locate this big cannon which was shooting into our forces and playing havoc generally. This gun, as we found out later, was secreted in a tunnel and was rolled up at each salvo and then would disappear in the mountain. It was our job to give the air boys the dope so we made our findings and a P-38 came over and bombed the tunnel at both ends. The gun never fired again.

"During the siege at Metz and on other sectors in the great push there the C-47's flew in fuel. The Third had moved too fast for supplies. After Metz we moved into the St. Avold sector on the Seigfried Line not far from the German border. Here we found a great mass of heavy pill boxes and tank traps. Later came the great German drive when General von Rundstedt launched his so-called break-through. We called it the bulge. You must remember, the Americans refused to retreat. We moved to Strassen in Luxembourg. General Patton refused to retreat. Instead he would let the Germans in and then beat them to pieces. It was bitter cold. The Germans had perfect weather for what they had attempted. We could get no air support. The Germans were tricky. They would come thru in American uniforms. Once an American plane came over and strafed us and kept at it. He was shot down. I never knew whether the pilot was American or German. If American he must have thought we were Germans. We transferred a lot of tanks to the First Army front.

"At the height of the German attack and after Bastogne had been isolated and the 101st Airborne cut off and generally the front was deeply dented, Patton struck. He sent a powerful column into the German flank and relieved Bastogne. For swift, effective movement we have been told that this action has never been equalled in warfare.

"You have all read a lot of good stories about General Patton. Well, we moved up to Trier. To the General Staff behind, it looked impossible, so they advised General Patton, so the story goes, that it would take eight divisions to reduce the salient and advised him to by-pass it. General Patton replied: 'I took it three days ago with three divisions, do you want me to give it back to them?'

"We moved on up in the course of the campaign to Ida-Oberstein in Germany and then to Frankfurt. I lost my best pal. He was Tech, Sgt. Edwin L. Thorn, or Noblesville, Indiana. He was drowned in the Main river. His jeep plunged off a bombed-out bridge in the dark. It was a severe blow to me.

"When we reached Regensberg the war was over. We stayed there a few days and then to Rosenheim. As I look back, I think how fortunate was my company. We only lost six men. Later we were stationed at Zipf, Austria, where they made the propulsion units for the V-2 bombs. The factory was under a mountain. They said 3000 forced laborers were required to build it. It had seven miles of tunnels. Here I heard the story that when a prisoner died or was too weak to go on they threw his body in a concrete mixer and he ended up in the walls. I never doubted the story for I saw Buchenwald prison camp. Here the bodies were still stacked up. They were on railroad cars and in corners of the prison yard, many of them covered with quicklime. They said 5000 a month were killed there. I also saw the prison camp at Dachau. It is ten miles from Munich and Buchenwald is at Weimar.

"I had 98 points and the war was over and I wanted to come home. We finally got to Marseilles and came aboard the S. S. Marine Panther, through the Mediterranean. It was a 2000 man ship but we had 2800 on board. America looks good and I hope we always remember how good is our country."

Sgt. Peck married Miss Lynn Dinges of Alexandria, Tennessee, which is close to Nashville. She is the daughter of E. T. Dinges who is in business there and Sgt. Peck will live there and have a part in the business.

Sgt. Peck received the Bronze Star African, Middle Eastern Ribbon with five battle stars; the American Theatre and American Defense medals. There were only seven Bronze Stars awarded to men in his company and he received one of them. Sgt. Peck was discharged at Camp Atterbery, Indiana, and is now visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Peck, Sr. A brother, Billy E. Peck, is in the Medical Corps of the Navy.

Miss Annie Vybiral Alvin Kupricka Wed

Miss Annie Vybiral, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vybiral, of Cameron, became the bride of Alvin Kupricka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vince Kupricka of Buckholts, at the First Baptist Church, Cameron, Sunday, November 4. Rev. Henry Brown, brother-in-law of the groom read the impressive double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ice white satin classic in design, styled with a sweetheart neckline, long fitted sleeves and gathered skirt that rounded into a full court train. Her finger tip veil of illusion was capped by orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white and pink roses.

Maid of honor was Miss Minnie Vybiral, sister of the bride, who was gowned in pink taffeta. The bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Vasek of Temple wore a gown of aqua taffeta. Both wore corsages of yellow Cytisus.

Benjamin Kupricka attended the groom as best man, and Anton Vy-biral was groomsmen.

A reception honoring the couple was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. A three-tiered wedding cake centered the white linen-covered table. Miss Irene Kupricka, sister of the groom, had charge of the guest book.

A dance at the S.P.J.S.T. Hall at Buckholts was held that night, honoring the couple.

Mrs. Kupricka is a graduate of Pasadena High school, and Mr. Kupricka is a graduate of Buckholts High school.

Among the out-of-town guests were Rev. and Mrs. Henry Brown of Fort Worth, Mrs. William Kupricka and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vasek of Temple, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Balusek and family of Elmaton, Mr. and Mrs. James Burchfield and daughter, Mr.

Factory versus Farm: A Draw

Mel Bates and Jud Polk were arguing the other day about the factory versus the farm. Jud has a job in the tool works and Mel grows the best corn in the county.

"Where would you farmers be," Jud says, "if it weren't for the factories that make your plows and tractors?"

"And where would you factory workers be," says Mel, "unless we farmers grew the food that keeps you going?"

Well, they called it a draw, and made peace over a glass of beer, "brewed from golden farmer's grain," allows Jud, "... and bottled and kept wholesome by the ingenuity of industry," Mel adds politely.

From where I sit, we may have different occupations, different standards, different opinions... but we're all necessary to one another. And the more we skip the differences, and stress the bigger issues of co-operation, tolerance, and understanding... the closer we are to a better world.

Joe Marsh
